THE THEATERS

Otto Hauerbach, who will be remembered having written "Madame Sherry" for Lina Abrahams, "The Fascinating Widow" for Julian Eltinge and "Dr. De Luxe" for Ralph Herz, is responsible for the book and lyrics of "The Firefly," which appears here soon, while Rudolph Friml, a Bohemian composer, whose many compositions are well known throughout continental Europe, is the composer of the score. Arthur Hammerstein, son of Oscar Hammerstein, stands behind this production.

Andrew Mack has received an offer to visit Australia.

The second reel of "Our Mutual Girl" is being shown today at the Orpheum theatre. Latest fashions in millinery are featured in a melodrama that is carried over into the next picture. Miss Norma Phillips takes the leading part and gives an amusing burlesque of a country girl. Patrons are asked to become acquainted with this wonderful society drama, which is in fifty-two reels, one of which is shown every Thursday at the Orpheum. Other photoplays shown today are "The Romance of Sunshine Alley," a beautiful Broncho film; and "For Her Brother's Sake," a stirring western drama by the Kay Bee company. Friday, a three-reel picture, "The House of Mystery," will be shown. It is a Thriller production with Maude Fealy in the title part.

A dramatization of Otto Reade's book, "The Jucklings," is to be produced on the road.

It will be recalled that James H. Hackett has offered a prize for the best play submitted to him for next season's use. He is now deluged with manuscripts and devotes a goodly portion of his leisure time to the perusal of the efforts of budding and experienced playwrights. In a recent letter to a friend, Mr. Hackett stated that he had under consideration, for next season's dramatization of "The Craig Kennedy," Detective stories which have been current in a popular magazine. Busy all the time and recognized as one of America's foremost actors and producers, Mr. Hackett's life is an example to those who seek fame through their own activity.

Tickets for the Christine Miller recital to be given next Tuesday evening in the First Baptist church will be placed on sale Friday morning at Wells and Haymaker's drug store.

Josephine Victor will be the Madame Cavalini of the second "Romance" company which is to be organized.

Messrs. Cohan and Harris have provided a splendid past for "Stop Thief," which appears March 31 at the Robinson Grand. It includes John Webster, John Findlay, Charles Brown, James H. Manning, Susan Willa, J. K. Hutchinson, Nan Francis, Fanchon Campbell, Dickie Delario, Lella Frost, Michael Lewis, William Wagner, Lionel St. Clair, James T. Ford and other players of prominence.

Joseph M. Galles, who is in Chicago, is shortly to make another production with some wealthy Chicago backers.

"Under Cover," which is having a run in Boston, is a play of smuggling by the better classes, by Roi Cooper Megrue. The leading parts are played by William Courtenay and Lady Cahill.

It is said that when her tour in "ante" is over, Ethel Barrymore will return to vaudeville in "The Twelve Pound Look."

Nora Bayes and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle have been engaged for the revival by Sam Bernard of "The Girl from Kay's."

Robert Campbell has secured the dramatic rights to Jack London's "John Barleycorn," which he will produce in the popular priced theatres.

The Bijou theatre has an unusually fine program today consisting of a two-reel Vitaphone special, a Biograph feature and a Selig melodrama. A new lot of musical hits, including tangos, one-acts and hesitation waltzes will be played by the orchestra tonight. The management directs attention to the fact that the pictures are shown on a costly mirror screen that is a relief to the eye.

The management of the Robinson Grand does not often guarantee to its best patrons an organization of players new to it but it is making a notable exception in favor of the Charles K. Champlin Stock Company, appearing here next week at popular prices.

The plays Mr. Champlin will present need no endorsement, they are all well known to the patrons of the Robinson Grand, but the company is assured in the most emphatic manner that every play presented during the week will be mounted equal in every way to the original $1.50 production.

The engagement will open Monday evening with Paul Armstrong's great burglar play, "Alias Jimmy Valentine." During the week the following high class plays will be given: "A Gentleman of Leisure," "Madame X," "Shore Acres," "The Price Women Pay," "Daughters of Men," "Carnegie," and "The Master of the House."

Another splendid show is on at the Odeon for the week end. Miss Lillian Maynard, a dainty little vocalist and comedienne has a pleasing act and Fred and Anna Pelot put on a fine juggling act that is full of humor. The third number of the series of "The Adventures of Kathryn," under the title of "In the Temple of the Lion" is today's photoplay feature.

"Too Many Crooks," Frank Craven's comedy, has been so successful that a number of one night stands have been cancelled and the play will be seen in Detroit this week.

SCHOOL

Team Defeated by Scholastics in Fast Contest Played in Hoffman Hall.

With two regulars in the game the Scholastics basketball team defeated the Mountain State Business College team of Parkersburg in a well played game on the Hoffman hall floor last evening. The final score being 48 to 32.

The feature of the game was the playing of Ruth, of the Parkersburg team who made 25 out of the 32 points made by his team. He is not regular member of the Business College team but is helping the boys out on this trip. He formerly played on the Parkersburg high school team, and is considered one of the best basketball players in the state.

The local boys played a good game but the feature of the evening was the jumping of Garrett at center, after demonstrating to the basketball fans that he was one of the best guards in the state, he is now trying to beat Capt. Williams out of his job at center.

The work of Dick Rigby at center was also very satisfactory which goes to show that the Scholastics are well fortified in the ring position. McAndrew at guard played his usual fast and aggressive game, while the work of Martin and Thompson was up to the standard.

The Parkersburg team will play the West Virginia Business College team on the same floor tonight.

The line-up:
Scholastics: Ray, M. S. B. C. Rigby, Thompson, C. Ahrendt, Garrett, McAndrew, Devore, Field goals—Clarkburg, Rigby 3; Thompson 5; Martin 2; Garrett 5; McAndrew 2; Parkersburg, Ruth 9; Mullen 1; Ahrendt 2; Field goals—Rigby 2 out of 7; Ruth, 8 out of 11. Referee—Williams. Scorer—Coughlin. Timekeeper—Henderson.

(Emerald circles of beauty are these isles on the breast of the blue Pacific—small compared with the immensity of surrounding waters, but large enough to wave happily their feathered palms, to bear blossoms of strange loveliness, and to furnish haunts for moonlighted waterfalls iridescent as sapphires, rare—large enough to be the home of beauty and love. Chiel are their shores of broken coral—their jungles of dense over which the Great Waves cry. But just inside the rainbow waters whisper in the calm lagoons, and over all broods an atmosphere of idyllic, of savage contentment and delight.)
(a) Where the Long White Water-fall falls (Love Song)
(b) The Great Wind shakes the Breadfruit Leaf (Ghost Song)
